“After our initial conversation with John Lloyd, we knew that he was knowledgeable, fair, and has the same out-to-the-box thought process as our company. We wanted to use a mechanical parking system in our latest project, that would be the first of its kind in downtown San Diego, and John never flinched. It is a testament to the nature of the Loan Company. Getting a construction loan funded can be a long and arduous process, but this was definitely not the case with The Loan Company. I would recommend them to any real estate developer looking for a down-to-earth lender who understands your needs.”
