John Lloyd and his team came in and funded our project (The Barrio Barns) in the middle of construction when other lenders were being difficult. They came through at a critical point to keep our crews going. The process/funding was painless and quick. We enjoyed working with their professional staff throughout the process. They took care of us every step of the way. You'll get personalized service you don't get with the big banks. Decisions were made quickly and didn't have to go through endless approvals/underwriting. We hope to work with them on future projects. I highly recommend considering them for your project financing.
